

THE entire UK supply of Tommy Lee's new album was stolen by thieves who rolled up at German record distributors SPV in a lorry, claiming they were there to collect the 43-year-old rock star's shipment. Staff at the Hanover centre loaded thousands of CDs of Tommyland: The Ride and watched the motley crew drive off.

Street smart

CORRIE stars swapped the Weatherfield cobbles for the red carpet as they came out to party. Sexy Debra Stephenson, 33, who plays Frankie Baldwin, looked stunning in a flirty mini dress while Antony Cotton, 30, the Street's Sean Tully, scrubbed up nicely in a smart suit. Also at the Royal Television Society awards bash in Manchester was comic Johnny Vegas, 34, right.

Pubs set to cash in on new hours

by GARY NICKS
DRINKERS will blow £500million more a year on booze when Britain's new licensing laws kick in this week.

They will turn the UK into Europe's biggest drinking nation and send pub sales through the roof.

That's the prediction from a major study into the effects of the new 24-hour boozing law which comes into force on Thursday.

Tony Blair ordered the overhaul to get Britain supping like our cafe-style continental neighbours.

But with 70% of the nation's 81,000 pubs applying to stay open longer, health campaigners fear binge drinking and violence will spiral out of control. And 75% of bosses fear staff will take more time off with hangovers and booze-related illness.

The average Brit already downs the equivalent of 28 bottles of vodka a year. But that is likely to rise to well over 30.

Dangerous

They already spend around £5billion in pubs and bars and that will rise by 10%. And new research for pub group Mitchells & Butlers yesterday predicted people will drink late into the night.

Mr Blair's father-in-law, reformed alcoholic Tony Booth, attacked the new law as "wrong, muddle-headed and terribly dangerous".

Actor Mr Booth, 74, said: "It won't suddenly turn us into a nation of Mediterranean sophisticates happy to make a small glass of red wine last an hour or two at some pavement cafe."

"In this country we do not drink that way. We drink in a more primitive, frightening, Anglo-Saxon way. We drink to get drunk. "Extend the licensing laws and the results are all too inevitable - more of us will simply get more drunk more often."

ABI HOURS: More of us will join Ms Titmuss in more beer

Kids will drink more

SEVEN out of 10 Brits don't think the new drink laws will affect their drinking habits.

But 45% of 16 and 17-year-olds reckon they'll booze more.

A survey by Radio 1's Newsbeat showed men aged between 18 and 24 drink the most with more than half drinking 16 units or more on a night out, and 41% of those are expecting to drink more after later opening hours.

The poll also found that 45% of respondents said that they had been "caught up in a violent incident on a night out drinking".

Our ale guts are ancient

BINGE drinking and beer bellies have been around for centuries, according to history experts.

Poor water quality in medieval Britain meant peasants had to drink ale.

And they got through as much as a gallon (four-and-a-half litres) a day, costing just a penny.

Museum of London spokesman John Clark said: "Most people, including children, drank ale made from malted barley without hops."

"They even drank it for breakfast and got through up to a gallon a day each."

At the time London had 1,300 alehouses - one for every 50 people in the city.

PREGNANT women who drink just one glass of wine a week can affect their unborn baby's mental development, say scientists.

Ultrasound scans show babies "jump" as alcohol slows down the formation of their nervous system.

Marco roasted over blast at British grub

TOP chefs have hit back at Marco Pierre White after he branded British grub "atrocious".

by MARIANNA PARTASIDES

Michelin-starred Marco said our "greedy" restaurant bosses served up rubbish and attacked "lazy" diners for putting up with it.

He also gave chefs such as Jamie Oliver, 30, and James Martin, 33, a roasting, claiming they were more interested in fame than food. Marco, 43, the first Brit chef to be awarded three Michelin stars, told Waitrose Food Illustrated: "I often hear we have some of the world's best restaurants in Britain."

Lazy

"But we're kidding ourselves. The great restaurants of France are in another league - we have much to learn."

Marco, who owns London eateries Luciano and Mirabelle, also blasted Brits for being "too

FURIOUS: Chef Antony

Worrall Thompson, 53, said: "His restaurants aren't cheap and he has done nothing to put British food on the menu."

"We've got some of the best chefs in the world."

And Sally Clarke, 50, owner of Clarke's in London's Kensington, said: "You can still find some great cooking here."

FLASHPOINT: Thugs are bringing terror to public

Cops launch train thugs crackdown

HOOLIGAN violence has moved from the football stadium to the train carriage, according to new police figures.

The British Transport Police have published a league table of clubs which shows whose supporters commit the most offences.

On Saturday they will launch a zero-tolerance campaign on the yobs. More than 500 BTP officers and police community support officers will be targeting 19 of the 52 matches being played. Anyone who is drunk, disorderly or attempting to avoid payment will face arrest. Fans can also phone a free hotline and report trouble-makers to the police.

Blame

West Ham hooligans are top of this season's league table for trouble, with Sunderland second and Manchester United third.

Police blame a hard core of fans for more than 100 incidents in the past three months, ranging from antisocial behaviour to pitched battles on platforms.

Andy Trotter, Deputy Chief Constable of BTP, said: "Rowdy football fans can be a nightmare for other passengers."

"Even when they are only being boisterous, in the confines of a train or in large groups on stations, they can be very intimidat-

by JAMES WICKHAM

ing. Active policing of travelling fans is a must-do for us. If we get it wrong, people get hurt."

Millwall, whose fans have the reputation of being among the most violent, are ranked at number five. Their fans have been involved in five antisocial behaviour incidents but only one has been arrested for causing trouble on the railways.

Eight Liverpool supporters were ejected from a train at Wolverhampton on November 5 after being abusive to passengers.

On the same day, police were called to separate 30 Liverpool supporters and a breakaway gang from Manchester United who were throwing bottles and beer cans at each other at Stafford railway station.

Big TVs just the ticket...

WORLD Cup bosses are to fund special fan zones in a bid to stop England supporters going on the rampage. Giant TV screens will be put up in most German cities to allow ticketless fans to see the games next year.

Organisers vowed to help after the FA was allocated less than 3,000 tickets for each England group game.

A huge scramble is expected after the draw in Leipzig on December 9 when 57-year-old Sven Goran Eriksson's team find out their first-round opponents and venues.

Baldies in a flap

ROSS Kemp and other slap-head celebrities could get their hair back thanks to a new cure for frontal baldness.

The £7,000 Fleming-Mayer flap procedure involves having a banana-shaped section of scalp part cut away from the side of the head.

It is then twisted 90 degrees and stitched back on to a big gash at the front. Because the blood supply is never cut off, the hair keeps growing.

Dr Richard Fleming, who performs up to 40 ops a month at his Beverly Hills Institute said: "A lot of Brits fly over for this: actors, entertainers, public figures."

One patient said: "It's amazing - miraculous, even."

HUSH HUSH

THIS former reality television starlet has been begging television bosses at a well-known station to give her a job as a weather girl. But unfortunately she blew her screen test in a spectacular way. We have a feeling that turning up two hours late after a night on the lash didn't particularly impress. Back to the drawing board, love.

Wills bid to stop going bald

PRINCE William is so worried about his balding crown he's seeking specialist help.

We can reveal the heir to the throne has turned to a homeopathic specialist in a bid to save his hair.

An insider told us: "William is concerned about his receding hair and fears he could well go completely bald."

Mates

"So he has turned to homeopathic remedies in bid to restore his hair."

"And as well as taking alternative medicine he is considering a course of acupuncture because his mates recommended the treatment."

"Like most men his

age he has always been quite conscious of losing his hair.

"Until now he has laughed it off when people compared him to his Uncle Edward, who also has flyaway, thinning hair."

"But now he is so worried about being follically challenged he's doing everything he can to fight the hair loss."

"And that includes taking multi-vitamins and Flaxseed oil. He has also seen a nutritionist and is making sure he eats a balanced diet."

Wills, 23, is doing work experience at British bank HSBC's investment division at London's Canary Wharf at his father's request, ahead of taking up his career in the Army in the New Year.

William's bald patch first hit the spotlight two months ago when London waxworks Madame Tussauds unveiled its model of him - with a full head of hair.

But it's not just losing his locks the Prince is worried about. He's also hoping to have laser eye surgery to correct his sight, so he doesn't have to wear specs.

Surgery

We're told: "It is something he is seriously thinking about. It could make such a difference to him."

"He may undergo the surgery after Christmas."

But his gorgeous girlfriend Kate Middleton, 23, doesn't seem to care about his looks. She just loves to be with him and is hoping for a cosy festive break at his side.

Our mole added: "They are planning to spend Christmas Day together at Sandringham."

And Wills shouldn't let a bad-hair day or two get him down. Even if he turns into a slaphead, we'll still think he's hot.

HAIR WE GO: Wills worries he's going bald like his dad

TASTY LOTTE'S HOME DREAM

SINGER Charlotte Church was all heart when she dropped in on her old nursery to say hello.

And while she enjoyed coffee and cake at the St Aubin nursery in Cardiff, her lover Gavin Henson, 23, was nearby at a book-signing.

Charlotte, 19, who is working her socks off to become a top pop singer, is all worked up about her new pad.

She said of her £550,000 home in Llandaff, Cardiff:

"I'm hoping it will be ready in about three weeks."

"But I don't know if I want to move in until after Christmas, until every bit of furniture is in."

She hinted she wanted Gavin - oops, we mean Gavin - to move in, too.

She said: "I've been staying at his and I can't really imagine spending a night apart now."

Henson, take the hint.

Stroll on - it's Jude &amp; Sienna

THEY hardly warm the cockles of out hearts, but we do have to hand it to Jude "Dave" Law and Sienna Miller for managing to get their romance back on track after a very turbulent time.

And the lovebirds - who are both said to have had flings behind one another's backs - looked head over heels in love again as they strolled through Santa Monica, Los Angeles, before hitting the shops.

And Jude, 32, proved a real gentleman by buying his blonde bombshell a diamond bracelet worth £8,000.

Then the pair dropped in at Halle Berry's favourite department store Fred Segals for a look around.

But while the retail therapy seemed to be working wonders for sexy Sienna, 23, Jude couldn't help having a mini moan at being snapped on camera.

But then again, what's new about that?

HEARTBROKEN Hollywood hunk Leonardo DiCaprio has been pouring out his woes to British babe Kelly Brook about being single.

The pair were seen in deep conversation at the Pig & Whistle bar on Sunset Boulevard, Los Angeles.

An onlooker said: "Leo looked fed-up, but Kelly told him to keep his chin up."

Leo, 31, split up with Gisele Bundchen, 25, last month and is still looking for love.

But Kelly, 25, who is engaged to actor Billy Zane, 39, is just a pal.

HAVE YOU GOT SOME JUICY GOSSIP FOR US?

SPOTTED

IN London: Former Take That singer Mark Owen wearing shades outside the Park Lane Hilton; Annie Lennox getting into a black cab in Knightsbridge and Sara Cox with her pet pooch Snoop outside Camden Tube. Mike Tyson being driven through Herne Hill; and Eugene from Big Brother 6 in HMV, Crawley, West Sussex.

Brit is a real ringer for Pat

BRITNEY Spears was going for the Pat Butcher look when she made a very rare outing with her husband Kevin Federline in New York. Wearing chavvy earrings and a face full of slap, the 23-year-old mum-of-one headed off to the cool Marquee club with her man and his dodgy new hairdo. Kev, 27, and Britney haven't been seen together for some time and speculation mounted they could soon split up. One clubber said: "They seemed tense but went straight to the VIP area where they were showered with free drinks."

QUICKIE...

GWYNETH Paltrow has said she doesn't have time to pamper herself now she is a mum.

The 33-year-old actress – who has a one-year-old daughter, Apple, with husband Chris Martin, 28, and has hinted she is pregnant again – said: "I have a child and she takes up my time. I do things when it's an emergency: when I look like a man, I have a wax."

QUICKIE...

JOHNNY Depp is shocked that he didn't die from a drugs overdose during his wild years.

The 42-year-old said: "For a number of years I self-medicated because I couldn't quite figure it out."

"I thought a simple life was an impossibility. It flipped me out."

"It was a weird period. There were times when it was a wonder I survived."

QUICKIE...

P. DIDDY, or Diddy as he's now known, will step up security for the launch of Pacha nightclub in New York at the beginning of next month.

The 34-year-old has told his best pal Erick Morillo he'll wear £2million worth of bling to the bash. DJ-turned-club owner Erick phoned us and said: "Diddy will be arriving in style."

WHEN

Jessica Simpson hit the shops the 25-year-old singer and actress was determined to spend, spend, spend. Jessica and her pal dropped into a BMW dealership in Beverly Hills where she bought a motor for her mate and then headed off to do the designer clothes stores run. But it didn't manage to put a smile on her face though.

Dyna's dose of reality

TELLY bosses beware. Sexy Ms Dynamite doesn't mess around when it comes to reality shows.

Our Amy and Leigh caught up with the 22-year-old London babe before a show in Liverpool, above.

She told us: "I hardly ever get time to watch TV and some of those reality TV shows are bland. But I've been catching bits of X Factor and I was furious when I saw Maria get booted out. That girl has talent and I'd work with her any day."

She said: "I think the show is absolutely dreadful." But asked if she'd like to be a judge on the hit ITV1 programme, she added: "Oooh, that would be fun!"

Star plans new gigs

by NADINE LINGE

BATTLING pop babe Kylie Minogue is to hit the road for her first tour since being diagnosed with cancer.

She has set up a new series of homecoming Australian gigs to make up for the tour she had to call off in May after discovering her health crisis.

The concerts will be held at the end of next year and Kylie, 37, has vowed to jazz up the show as a thank you for the support of Aussie fans.

Her promoter Michael Gudinski said: "Kylie is touched that so many fans are waiting patiently."

"Fans who hold onto their tickets will be part of a tour they'll never forget."

Kylie is living in Paris with boyfriend Olivier Martinez, 39, while she attends a top cancer centre.

Her last chemo session is on December 18 before she heads home to Oz for a tough six-week course of radiation treatment. Only then will medics know if she's beaten the disease.

Franks a lot

CHANNEL 4 girlband Frank are recycling pop tunes from an act previously tipped by Hot. Last year I told you about Niara Scarlett, 26, and Giselle Sommerville, 28, who made up Mania and were peeved at a lack of radio support because of their ages.

They ducked out of the limelight after one single but now they're sharing tracks that would have made their album. Frank, aka Hayley Angel Wardle, Helena Dowling, Lauren Blake and Bryony Afferson, all 22, have performed Mania's Money In My Pocket.

Mania had some good pop songs. I hope Frank make them the hits they deserve to be.

JOE MOTT'S AWARD WINNING HOT

MOTT
THE Red Hot Chili Peppers are heading out on the road next year. Live shows will accompany 43-year-old Anthony Kiedis and co's follow-up to 2002's By The Way and are expected around April.

Sharp Blunt

INSPIRED: James Blunt

L.A. 'MAGIC' IS JUST THE TRICK

JAMES Blunt will record the follow-up to his massive debut album in America to ensure some Hollywood "magic" continues his run of success. The former soldier, 28, is making waves on tour in the States.

And he cites LA as the wondrous inspiration that made Back To Bedlam such a great record. He told me: "I've booked time next September to start on the second album. I'll be working with the same producer and this time taking my band, so it'll be a grittier record." Blunt, whose new single Goodbye My Lover features The OC beauty Mischa Barton, has a lot of love for the US.

Pub

He continued: "I could walk from my flat down the Fulham Palace Road after being in the pub with my mates and make it in London, but it wouldn't have the same magic."

Goodbye My Lover premieres on the 3 Mobile network today. James is coy about his on-set chemistry with sexy actress Mischa, 19. He said: "I can't remember if we swapped numbers."

Of course you can't mate.

WIN Will Young goodies

WILL Young fans can win his new dual disc album which, when flipped, becomes a DVD.

Keep On is released today and Will, 27, has signed five copies. The first name picked also snafes a Sony DVD player.

To enter, tell me the title of Will's latest single.

Ring 0905 072 0769.

Calls cost 75p per minute from a BT landline and should last no longer than two minutes. Or text

JOEMOTT followed by a space, your answer, name and details to 88833. Texts cost £1.50 plus network operator rate. Winners selected at random from entries received by noon tomorrow. Star rules apply. Editor's decision is final.

Picture: JOSE LUIS MAGANA

Justin's rolling in cash

JUSTIN Hawkins says there's enough cash being thrown at him to allow his band to make whatever music it likes.

Never one to avoid the chance to boast, The Darkness frontman has revealed they are Warners' priority act. The 30-year-old told Virgin Radio: "They plough money into us and let us get on with things, so it's a once in a lifetime opportunity to try everything."

Best

English Country Garden is the singer's favourite track on second album One Way Ticket To Hell And Back.

He continued: "The piano you listen to is actually the same piano that was played on Bohemian Rhapsody by Freddie Mercury."

"I'm playing all the synthesisers and it's got my favourite guitar solo of all those I've done."

Rob belts 'em out

ROBBIE Williams thrilled fans in Mexico after the good news of his 2006 tour selling out became public.

The 31-year-old delivered a set from new album Intensive Care, including forthcoming Crimbo single Advertising Space. Flashing his Calvin Klein undies, cheeky Rob also took the interesting decision of threading a pink and black polka dot scarf through the belt loop of his jeans.

It seems a superstar has to keep his crown jewels well wrapped up when he's on the road.

Kel's Mad with mum

KELLY Osbourne has been left red-faced after mum Sharon, 53, branded Madonna "a hooker".

Kelly, 21, told me: "I'm too embarrassed to go to any of her concerts after what mum said."

Madonna, 47, shown here performing at London's G-A-Y night on Saturday, is unlikely to care. New album Confessions On A Dancefloor has stormed to the top of the charts.

PHIL'S GONNA GRASS

FATHER KNOWS BEST: Johnny wants daughter Ruby to stop seeing Juley

He spies on mobster girl

ALBERT SQUARE bully boy Phil Mitchell is turning into a grass.

But Phil (Steve McFadden, 46) won't be nailing other criminals.

He'll be spying on gangster Johnny Allen's daughter Ruby and her romance with Jack-the-lad Juley Smith so he can wind up her dad.

Last night a series insider confirmed: "Phil is dicing with danger as he baits Johnny about Ruby and Juley."

"He knows Ruby is the chink in the older man's armour and Phil has become confident that he is more than a match for an over-the-hill hardman."

"Phil makes it his business to put the bullet in on Ruby when she continues to see Juley against her dad's wishes."

"Phil takes delight in making mischief and causing the Allens distress. But it could all backfire on him big-style."

Viewers will see the soap's own take on the famous movie Guess Who's Coming to Dinner which starred Sydney Poitier as the black boyfriend of a wealthy white heiress.

But there will be no happy ending for Juley (Joseph Kpobie) when he's invited for a family nosh.

Ruthless Johnny (Billy Murray, 64) wants a wealthy white boyfriend for his

EXCLUSIVE

by IAN BRANDES

virginal daughter. He will use the meal to expose Juley as a criminal he caught selling drugs in his Scarlet's nightclub.

Last night a series insider confirmed: "The plot does bear similarities to the 1967 film - minus the happy ending."

"Johnny pretends to be a nice guy, but uses the meal as a way of exposing Juley and humiliating him."

But Johnny, who has been making major miscalculations of late, gets it all wrong again.

Obsessed

And his public school-educated daughter (Louisa Lytton, 17) grows closer to Juley when he expresses remorse for his past criminal actions.

She decides that she's ready to surrender her virginity to him.

Meanwhile Johnny is even more obsessed with breaking up the romance.

A source said: "He'll invite Ruby and Juley to the club and when he is chatting to Juley with a smile on his face, he will threaten serious physical harm to him unless he leaves his daughter alone. Juley will be left terrified."

HOODY HELL: Kelly's attacker comes up behind her and pounces. The terrified factory girl is slammed against a wall and threatened before the mugger rifles her handbag

Kell of a night out

by NADINE LINGE

THIS is the shock moment when Corrie factory girl Kelly Crabtree is mugged and threatened with rape.

After winning thousands on a scratchcard, machinist Kelly (Tupele Dorgu, 27) takes her cabbie boyfriend Lloyd (Craig Charles, 41) out for a drunken slap-up meal.

But after she flashes her cash he storms out of the restaurant and Kelly is left to totter home alone.

And that's when a hooded attacker pounces and drags her into a dark alley in the episode to be shown in December.

NO-SEX LIZ SACKED

CORRIE'S mini-skirted golden girl Liz McDonald is heading for the dole queue – thanks to pervy boss Digory Compton.

The Street baker, who cannot resist touching Liz up at every opportunity, will give her the bullet after a disastrous night at the Weatherfield Traders' Ball.

The roly-poly businessman hires Liz (Bev Callard, 48) as his escort for the night

by IAN BRANDES

hoping there will be some "extras" after. But Digory (Eric Potts, 40) will be left raging when Liz cops off with the band's saxophonist Vernon, so he monitors her work carefully and notices it is below par.

It's all the excuse Digory needs, and he sacks her.
